A VISIT TO THE HOME OF MADISON.-Mr. Carson, a whole-souled Irishman, who now owns the place, soon made his appearance and invited me into the parlor. This room is adorned with a handsome portrait of Madison, painted a few years ago in Philadelphia, some landscapes, piano, marble centre-table, etc. I was not left long to inspect the parlor, for Mr. Carson was all enthusiasm to show me a new force pump and to display its power. Accordingly, he hurried me to the door opening upon the front portico, and there, to my amazement, burst upon us a panorama which for beauty and extent is scarcely surpassed in ail Virginia. The front lawn, extending some two hundred yards to a large gate and hedge, disclosed beyond the hedge ample fields thick set in clover and inclosed in a semicircle of dark green woods beyond which, at a distance of ten miles or more, stretched the mighty wall of the Blue Ridge Mountains literally athwart the whole horizon. Grand and expansive as the scene was, it was chiefly remarkable for the ansence of human habitations. The forest ap peared to be unbroken to the very base of the mountains. Clearings and dwellings there doubtlesswere in that vast expanse, but they were hidden by the golden haze. Montpellier looked forth upon this wide area of natural beauty solitary and alone, as might some castle of mediaeval times upon a barou's broad domaius. A more impressive sight is seldom seen.

Mr. Carson forced me away from this splendid spectacle to witness the working of his new pump. Then I must see the gigantic chestnut trees, one of which was thirty, and another forty, feet in diameter; and not far away he led me to a hill overlooking a little dell carpeted with tenderest grass and shaded by nearly a hundred beautiful walnut treesa lovely ded in leed, where fairies might dance and revel. Then to the garden, where we feasted on grapes, pears and figs, and then back to see the sun go down in glory behind the purple battlements of the Ridge, the sky all amber and orange, and the landscape fading, melting, glooming down through all the tints of the spectrum. The picture of Montpellier House in Howe's Historical Collections is, as I have said before, simply execrable. The facade, though it does not rival upper Brandon with its noble front of two hundred and forty feet on the James River. nor tower aloft like the castellated homes of the Bruces in Halifax county, is nevertheless sufficiently imposing for the residence of a President, and fits well into the magnificent landscape which it commands. The view from Monticello is no doubt more extensive and picturesque, but the soft beauty of the scenery around Montpellier can hardly be excelled. -The contrast between the rear and front lawns is most extraordinary, and enhances the beauty of both. Behind the house you are seeluded from the world in nooks and levels of greenery; in front the world burst upon you in startling grandeur, but is still the world of Nature, for the works of men's hands are scarcely visible. I know nothing like it, nothing quite equal to it. The house is built to last for ages. There are seventy-two acres in the lawns, "What a place for a student! What a home for a man of wealth and of taste! What a summer resort it would make! tor there is no healthier region probably in the world. What a site for a female college or a select school for boys!"-Lippincott's Maga-

NECESSITY OF SLEEP .- Henry Ward Beecher says: There are thousands of busy people who die every year for want of sleep. Sleeplessness becomes a disease, and is the precursor of insanity. We speak of sleep as the image of death, and our waking hours as the image of life. Sleep is not like death, for it is the period in which the waste of the system ceases, or is reduced to its minimum. Sleep repairs the waste which waking hours have made. It rebuilds the system. The night is the repair shop of the body. Every part of the system is silently overhauled, and all the organs, tissues, and substances are replenished. Waking consumes and exhausts, sleep replaces and repairs. A man who would be a good worker must be a good sleeper. A man has as much force in him as he had provided for in sleep. The quality of mental activity depends upon the quality of sleep. Men need, on an average, eight hours of sleep a day. A lymphatic temperament may require nine; a nervous temperament six or seven. A lymphatic man is sluggish, moves and sleeps slowly. But a nervous man acts quickly in everything. He does more in an hour than a sluggish man in two hours; and so in his sleep. Every man must sleep according to his temperament-but eight hours is the average. Whoever by work, pleasure, sorrow, or by any other cause, is regularly diminishing his sleep, is destroying his life. A man may hold out for a time, but the crash will come, and he will die. There is a great deal of intemperance besides that of tobacco, opium or brandy. Men are dissipated who overtax their system all day, and undersleep every night. A man who dies of delirium tremens is no more a drunkard and a suicide than the minister, the lawyer, the merchant, the editor, or the printer, that works excessively all day and sleeps but little all night.

Use of Velocipedes. - Admirers of the velocipede will be glad to learn that a practical use has at last been found for it. The attempt formerly made in France to adapt it to the service of the letter-carriers has, we believe, been alundoned. But now Spain, where progress in this way was hardly to be looked for, has developed resources in the bycicle which we are sure its inventors never contemplated. In a recent bull fight at Bilbao, a velocipede was substituted for a horse by one of the picadors with the most triumphant results. Not once, we are gleefully told, was this enterprising performer forced to dismount, and both steed and rider came out of the combat quite unscathed. Certainly, its practicability thus manifested, the advantages of the velocipede for this spethe advantages of the velociped to the displacement cannot be gainsaid. It is cies of amusement cannot be gainsaid. It is feetly safe. Call and see them at mind to be trightened or to be unpleasant in the control of ly mangled, and if only similar satisfactory substitutes could be found for the other animals engaged in them, bull fights would become

JAMES F. CARLIN & SONS', engaged in them, bull fights would become much more agreeable to civilized taste.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or mar-

These are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by the early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimnessof Sight, Lossof Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of the Digestive Func tions, General Debility, Symptoms of Consump.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now judge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emaciated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, cough and symptoms of Consumption YOUNG MEN Who have injured themselves by a certain prac-tice, already described, a habit frequently learned from evil companions or at school, the effects of which are nightly felt, even when asleep, and

When e misguided and imprudent votary of pleasur, inds that he has imbibed the seeds of pleasur. Inds that he has imbibed the seeds of thispain all disease, it too often happens that an ill-times ense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horid disease makes their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal points in the head and limbs, diseased of sight pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deatness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, dealness, nodes on the sum bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commisseration till death puts a period to his dreadful suffering, by sending him to that undiscovered country "from whence no traveller returns." whence no traveller returns.

It is a meiancholy fact that thousands DIE victims to this terrible disease, through falling into the hands of ignorant or unskilful PRE-TENDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poison, Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and incurable of curing, keep the unbanny sufand incapable of curing, keep the unhappy suf-ferer menth after month taking their noxious injurious compounds, and instead of being re stored to a renewal of Life, Vigorand Happiness in despair leave him with ruined Health to sigh over his galling disappointment.
